

Judge Megan Marshall

Judge Megan Marshall is a fifth generation Idaho native. She earned her Bachelors in English and her Juris Doctorate degrees from the University of Idaho.

Her career has spanned both the public and private sectors; representing defendants in complex criminal cases including homicide, white-collar crimes, and multi-jurisdictional drug offenses in state and federal court in addition to representing clients in a variety of civil litigation. She started her career as a Kootenai County Deputy Public Defender advocating for indigent clients in criminal cases. From there, she joined Winston & Cashatt, Lawyers, where she continued her representation of clients in both Idaho and Washington, and served as a member of the CJA panel.

In 2017, Judge Marshall relocated to Moscow, where she operated her own law practice until her appointment to the bench in December 2018. She is the first female judge in Latah County, and only the 5th Magistrate Judge in the county's history.